

WG HENSCHEN TO OFFER MODIFICATION KITS AND TECHNICAL EXPERTISE FOR AIRBUS SERVICE BULLETINS

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., USA (September 16, 2013) – WG Henschen, an Airbus Approved Vendor, is pleased to announce that it is the first distributor to sell modification kits based on Airbus Service Bulletins. This alternative offering to Airbus’s modification kits mentioned in the “Material Price Information” section of the AIRBUS Issued Service Bulletins will include WG Henschen’s competitive pricing, personalized customer service and technical expertise.

“At WG Henschen we are often praised for our outstanding attention to detail as well as our engineering support, which will be underscored as we venture into the MRO/Airlines market,” said Damien Moreau, executive vice president and chief operating officer at WG Henschen.

Customers with aircraft that are affected by a service bulletin should now send a request for quotation to WG Henschen and mention the distinguishing number of the service bulletin. The latest valid price and lead time for ordering purposes shall be obtained through the company website (<http://wghco.com/service-bulletins>) or through a request for quotation emailed to sales@wghco.com.

Originally founded in 1959, WG Henschen is a woman-owned, stocking distributor of hardware to the Military and Commercial Aerospace Industry with a growing global presence. WG Henschen is committed to excellence in customer service, quality product lines and accessible levels of inventory.

We have been awarded Star Supplier status with Lockheed-Martin as well as having received approvals from Boeing, Ametek, Parker Hannifin, Eaton, M7 Aerospace, Triumph and several other major prime manufacturers in the United States.

Our mission is rooted in customer service and founded on the principle that maintaining satisfied customers is our top priority. Our experience gives us the ability to source "hard to find" items.
